

Background

Acciaierie Italia, Italy's largest steel manufacturer, faced the challenge of establishing seamless communication with influential figures and clients during significant events. This included interactions with the President of the Republic and vital board meetings. Global Voices stepped in with a team of interpreters and ensured that every event was supported with interpretation of the highest calibre. Our interpreters were not only linguistically adept but also well-versed in the specific nuances of Acciaierie Italia's industry, ensuring accurate and contextually relevant interpretations. Furthermore, our company's ability to provide interpreters on short notice, sometimes even within the same day, became an asset, benefiting our ongoing partnership.

Challenge

The need for immediate and exceptional interpretation services, often on short notice, was crucial to maintain impeccable communication standards.

Outcomes

- Facilitated crucial interactions with high-profile figures, enabling the company to maintain impeccable communication standards.
- By ensuring clear and accurate communication within Acciaierie and with external entities, Acciaierie Italia could interface with important political figures and clients.
- Clear communication meant better training in operating machinery, leading to improved job opportunities and heightened job security.
