

Background

In July 2022, Siemens Energy hosted a series of crucial presentations and discussions. The participants, hailing from Brazil and England, converged to share insights and engage in strategic discussions. Effective communication was paramount to the success of the event. Global Voice's team of chuchotage interpreters were fluent in both Brazilian Portuguese and English. Over the course of two days, our skilled interpreters provided whispered interpretations, ensuring that all participants, regardless of their language background, could follow the presentations and actively engage in discussions.

Challenge

Ensure participants from both linguistic backgrounds could fully engage with the presentations and actively participate in the discussions. Brazilian Portuguese required a specialised skill set from the interpreters involved.

Benefits

- With chuchotage interpreting services, effective communication between Brazilian Portuguese and English speakers was guaranteed. The whispered interpretations enabled participants to comprehend the presentations and actively participate in discussions, fostering a dynamic exchange of ideas.
- The active involvement due to interpretation was not only enriching for the event but also beneficial for the attendees' professional growth and career prospects.
- Brazilian participants gained valuable knowledge and insights which enhanced their skillset and knowledge base, proving advantageous for their careers within the energy sector.
